

Publications, Presentations, and Honors

The following represents just a sampling of the myriad activities of our law school community—highlighting a diverse range of leadership in scholarship, teaching, and public service.

José Bahamonde-González served as vice president of the National Association for Law Placement. He presented “Diversifying Your Law School Career Services or Legal Recruiting Departments: A Call to Action” at the 2005 NALP Conference, Chicago, IL (April 2005), and “Implementing Diversity Initiatives at the Partner Level: Hiring Laterals and Recruiting Mentors” at the New York City Legal Recruiters Association, New York, NY (June 2005).

Taunya Banks published “Dangerous Woman: Elizabeth Key’s Freedom Suit,” Social Science Research Network (SSRN) (2005); “Brown at 50: Reconstructing Brown’s Promise,” 44 Washburn Law Journal 31 (2004); and “Setting the Record Straight: Maryland’s Early Black Women Law Graduates,” 63 Maryland Law Review 752 (2004). She was a panelist at “Defining Diversity to Achieve Equality After Gratz and Grutter,” held during the Sixth Biennial of the Just the Beginning Foundation (also co-sponsored by the Philadelphia Bar Association) in Philadelphia, PA (October 2, 2004), and at “The Browning of America,” during the People of Color Conference at George Washington University, Washington, DC (October 10, 2004). More recently, she presented “Brown vs. Board of Education Fifty Years Later: The Continuing Threat to Educational Equality,” at the University of Saskatchewan Law School, Saskatoon, Canada (March 21, 2005).

Brenda Bratton Blom published a book review in J. Affordable Housing and Community Development Law, Winter 2005, on Nickel and Dimed: On (Not) Getting By in America, by Barbara Ehrenreich, and The Working Poor: Invisible in America, by David K. Shipler (2005). She was a moderator for the session “Doing Well While Doing Good: Building a Housing and Community with a Social Justice Perspective,” at the Fair Housing

Workshop for ABA Forum on Housing and Community Development Law, San Francisco, CA (February 24-25, 2004) and presented “Solo and Small Firm Practitioners as Anchors for Social Movements,” at the Conference on Cause Lawyering and Social Movements, UCLA School of Law, Los Angeles, CA (March 4-5, 2005).

David Bogen published “Precursors of Rosa Parks: Maryland Transportation Cases Between the Civil War and the Beginning of World War I,” 63 Maryland Law Review 721-51 (March 2005). He presented “Interstate Commerce and the Equal Protection Clause: A Tangled Relationship,” as part of the program “From Brown to the Civil Rights Act of 1964,” University of Maryland School of Law, Baltimore, MD (September 21, 2004).

Richard Boldt presented “The Rehabilitation of Rehabilitation: Drug Treatment Courts, Problem Solving Courts, and the Future of Rehabilitative Punishment” at the Association of American Law Schools Annual Meeting, Criminal Justice Section Program in San Francisco, CA. (January 2005).

Richard Booth published the articles “Who Should Recover What for Securities Fraud?,” Social Science Research Network (SSRN) (2005); “Windfall Damages Under PSLRA,” 59 Business Lawyer 1043 (2004); and “Executive Compensation, Corporate Governance, and the Partner-Manager,” University of Illinois Law Review (2004). He published the books Financing the Corporation (West Group 1993) (2004 supplement) and Fundamentals of Modern Business—A Lawyer’s Guide (with Robert W. Hamilton) (Little Brown/Aspen) (2005 supplement).

Irving Breitowitz presented “Cloning and Stem Cell Research: The Limits of Science,” at the Jerusalem Institute of Halacha and Medicine in Potomac, MD (January 27, 2005).

Christopher Brown was presented the Women’s Law Center of Maryland’s Dorothy Beatty Award (2004) (October 26, 2004).

Maxwell Chibundu published “The Other in International Law: ‘Community and International Legal Order,” Social Science Research Network (SSRN) (2004).

Douglas Colbert published op-ed articles “Give Prosecutors Power to Charge” (May 9, 2005) and “Bowing to Bail Bondsmen” (June 12, 2004) in the Baltimore Sun. He presented “Punishment without Trial” at the Law and Society Conference in Chicago and “Supervising Independent Student Work” at the AALS Conference on Clinical Legal Education (June 2004). He participated in a symposium at the Maryland State Bar Association meeting entitled “Pretrial Release, Bail . . . Or Jail.” He was selected as the initial recipient of the Maryland State Bar Association Correctional Reform Section Paul J. Davis Recognition Award.

Robert Condlin has an article forthcoming, "A Formstone of our Federalism: The Erie/Hanna Doctrine and Casebook Law Reform," 59 Miami Law Review (2005), and published "'Defendant Veto' or 'Totality of the Circumstances?': It's Time for The Supreme Court to Straighten Out the Personal Jurisdiction Standard Once Again," 54 Catholic University Law Review 53 (2004).

Karen Czapanskiy published "Unemployment Insurance Reform for Moms," 44 Santa Clara Law Review 1093 (2004) and "Why Does It Matter Where I Live? Welfare Reform, Equal Protection, and the Maryland Constitution," 63 Maryland Law Review 655 (2005). She presented "Welfare Reform in the United States: Impacts on Children," at the 4th World Congress on Family Law and Children's Rights held in Cape Town, South Africa (March 21, 2005).

Jerome Deise published "Hearsay, Confrontation, and Forfeiture by Wrongdoing: Crawford v. Washington, a Reassessment of the Confrontation Clause," 35 University of Baltimore Law Forum 5 (2004) (with Paul Grimm). He received the 2004 Richard S. Jacobson Award for Excellence in Teaching Trial Advocacy, a national award given by The Roscoe Pound Institute.

Lisa Fairfax will publish "The Bottom Line on Board Diversity: A Cost Benefit Analysis of the Business Rationales for Diversity on Corporate Boards," Wisconsin Law Review (forthcoming 2005); "Spare the Rod, Spoil the Director? Revitalizing Directors' Fiduciary Duty Through Legal Liability," Houston Law Review (forthcoming 2005); and published "Achieving the Double Bottom Line: A Framework for Corporations Seeking to Deliver Profits and Public Services," 9 Stanford Journal of Law, Business & Finance 199 (2004). She presented "Stakeholders and Shareholders" at the UCLA Sloan Conference on the Means and Ends of Corporations in Santa Monica, CA (January 28, 2005).

Larry Gibson was presented the "Maryland Leadership in Law Award," The Daily Record, The Scottish Rite (November 12, 2004). He was a keynote speaker at the Joint Bar Association's Dinner Honoring Chief Judge Robert Bell's 30th Anniversary on the Bench, held at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Baltimore, MD (February 17, 2005).

Donald Gifford will publish "The Challenge to the Individual Causation Requirement in Mass Products Torts," 63 Washington & Lee Law Review (forthcoming 2005), and "The Peculiar Challenges Posed by Latent Diseases Resulting from Mass Products," 64 Maryland Law Review (forthcoming 2005). He presented "The New Wave: Collective Actions and Responsibilities," at the Thomas F. Lambert Tort Law Conference on Sophisticated New Tort Theories, Center for Advanced Legal Studies, Suffolk University Law School, Boston, MA (October 29, 2004).

Daniel Gilman will publish "'Thou Shalt Not Kill' as Defeasible Heuristic: Law and Economics and the Debate over Physician-Assisted Suicide" in the Oregon Law Review (forthcoming 2005).

Daniel Goldberg published "To Praise the AMT or to Bury It," 24 Virginia Tax Review 835-861 (2005).

Mark Graber will publish "Dred Scott as a Centrist Decision," University of North Carolina Law Review (forthcoming 2005); "Resolving Political Questions into Judicial Questions: Tocqueville's Thesis Revisited" in Constitutional Commentary (forthcoming 2005); and published "Ancients, Moderns, and Guns," 12 William & Mary Bill of Rights Law Review 307 (2004); and "Counterstories: Protecting and Expanding Civil Liberties in Times of War," in War And The Constitution (edited by Mark Tushnet), Duke University Press (2005). He presented "Legal, Strategic, or Legal Strategy: Ex Parte McCordle Revisited," at the University of Texas School of Law, Austin, TX (November 19, 2004); "Dred Scott as a Centrist Decision," at the UCLA School of Law, Los Angeles, CA (January 26, 2005); and "The Constitution as Contract and Relationship" at Princeton University (April 15, 2005).

Oscar Gray published "The Law of Torts," 2005 Supplement No. 1 to F. Harper, F. James and O. Gray, (2d ed. 1986), Six Volumes (2004). He presented "Informed Consent Principles for Psychoanalysis," at the Discussion Group, Winter 2005 Meeting of American Psychoanalytic Association in New York, NY (January 20, 2005).

Michael Greenberger will publish "Indefinite Material Witness Detention Without Probable Cause: Thinking Outside the Fourth Amendment," At War With Civil Rights and Liberties, (Thomas E. Baker, John F. Stack, Jr., eds., forthcoming); and published the "Maryland Public Health Emergency Preparedness Legal Handbook," (2005) prepared for the Maryland Office of the Attorney General, Department of Health and Mental Hygiene; "Terrorism Cases: A 'Third' Magna Carta," 2003 Term Supreme Court Review, The National Law Journal (August 2, 2004); and "The 800-Pound Gorilla Sleeps: The Federal Government's Lackadaisical Liability and Compensation Policies in the Context of Pre-event Vaccine Immune Programs," 8 Journal of Health Care Law & Policy 7 (2005). He both co-organized and spoke at "Terrorism and Trauma: a Transatlantic Perspective," a conference held at the University of Maryland, Baltimore, MD (September 20, 2004). Additionally, he was a presenter at the Cyril H. Wecht Institute of Forensic Science and Law & Duquesne University School of Law National Symposium: "Tracking Terrorism in the 21st Century," held in Pittsburgh, PA (October 21-23, 2004), and at the "Law & Terrorism Conference 2005," sponsored by the United States Military Academy at West Point (April 13-15, 2005).

Publications, Presentations, and Honors

Susan Hankin presented "From Property Owner to Guardian: The Changing Legal Relationship between People and Their Companion Animals," Panel Session held during the American Society for Bioethics and Humanities Annual Meeting in Philadelphia, PA (October 28, 2004).

Deborah Hellman will publish "What Money Can and Cannot Buy" in The Good Society, (forthcoming 2005). She presented "It's Not the Thought that Counts: An Argument Against the Moral Significance of Intentions to Wrongful Discrimination" at the UCLA Legal Theory Workshop and the Dartmouth College, Legal Theory Workshop. In addition, she was awarded a Fellowship at the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars for 2005-06.

Susan Herrick published a book review on Inheritance Law and the Evolving Family by Ralph C. Brashier (Temple University Press, 2004), in 97 Law Library Journal 153 (2005).

Diane Hoffmann published "Dying in America: An Examination of Policies that Deter Adequate End of Life Care" (with Anita Tarzian), 33 Journal of Law, Medicine & Ethics (2005), and "Future Public Policy and Ethical Issues Facing the Agricultural and Microbial Genomics Sectors of the Biotechnology Industry" (with Lawrence Sung), 24 Biotechnology Law Report 10-28 (2005). She presented "Pain and the Law" at "Meeting Challenges in the Decades of Pain," a conference sponsored by Partners for Understanding Pain in Washington, DC (September 17, 2004), and "Are We Impeding Hospice Care in Nursing Homes: Challenges, Opportunities and Strategies," at the National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization's Annual Management & Leadership Conference in Washington, DC (September 30, 2004). She was a panelist at a forum on medical malpractice and tort reform, sponsored by the Department of Health Policy & Management, Bloomberg School of Public Health, Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, MD (November 11, 2004). She was appointed to the Ethics Committee of the National Hospice and Palliative Care Organization (2005).

Alan Hornstein published the "Maryland Evidence 2005 Courtroom Manual," Lexis/Nexis (2005). He was awarded the Touro Law Center Student Bar Association Teaching Award (2004-05).

Sherrilyn Ifill presented "Racial Violence and Public Terror," at the Center for Study of Law & Culture, Columbia University Law School, New York, NY (February 9, 2005) and "Placing Race in the Curriculum," at the Race & Law Curriculum Workshop, Center for the Study of Race and Race Relations, University of Florida, Levin College of Law, Gainesville, FL (February 25, 2005).

Dionne Koller will publish "Legal Writing and Academic Support: Timing is Everything," in the 54 Cleveland State Law Review (forthcoming 2005).

Paula Monopoli will publish "Drafting Attorneys as Fiduciaries: Fashioning an Optimal Ethical Rule for Conflicts of Interest," in the 66 Pittsburgh Law Review (forthcoming 2005) and published "The Sway of the Swing Vote: Justice Sandra Day O'Connor and Her Influence on Issues of Race, Religion, Gender and Class, Foreword," 4 University of Maryland Law Journal of Race, Religion, Gender and Class 207 (2004). She was the recipient of the University of Maryland School of Law's Outstanding Teacher of the Year Award in May 2004. Professor Monopoli was the moderator for the panel "Women as Academics and Scholars" at the "Women and the 'New' Corporate Governance Symposium" held at the law school in Baltimore, MD (April 8, 2005), and she gave a presentation entitled "Gender and the Legal Profession" at the National Association of Law Placement's Annual Conference in Chicago, IL (April 20, 2005).

Helen Norton published "Not for Attribution: Government's Interest in Protecting the Integrity of Its Own Expression," 37 U.C. Davis Law Review 1317 (2004) and will publish "Stepping Through Grutter's Open Doors: What the University of Michigan Cases Mean for Race-Conscious Government Decision-making," Temple Law Review (forthcoming 2005). She presented "Recent Developments in Federal and State Antidiscrimination Law," at the Maryland Judicial Education Institute in Annapolis, MD (September 22, 2004).

Robert Percival was named the Robert F. Stanton Professor of Law. He presented "Environmental Justice: A Comparative Perspective," at a conference "Comparative Climate Change Policy, National Allocation Plans and Emissions Trading," Schloss Leopoldskron, held in Salzburg, Austria, (September 27, 2004); “Mining Wastes: Historical Perspective and Existing Regulatory Framework,” as part of the Committee on Mine Placement of Coal Combustion Wastes, National Research Council, National Academy of Sciences, Washington, DC (October 27, 2004); and “Managing Environmental Conflicts: Lessons from the History of Smelter Pollution,” at the conference on “Prevención y Solución de Conflictos Ambientales: Vías Administrativas, Jurisdiccionales y Alternativas,” at the University of Chile Centro de Derecho Ambiental, Santiago, Chile (December 1, 2004). He published “Resolución de Conflictos Ambientales: Lecciones Aprendidas de la Historia de la Contaminación de las Fundiciones de Metales,” in Prevención y Solución de Conflictos Ambientales Vías Administrativas, Jurisdiccionales y Alternativas (Univ. Chile/Lexis Nexis 2004) (book chapter) (2004). Percival also published “The Clean Water Act and the Demise of the Federal Common Law of Interstate Nuisance,” 55 Alabama Law Review 717 (2004) and “Chasing the Wind: Regulating Air Pollution in the Common Law State,” 14 Law & Politics Book Review (2004). He presented “Environmental Law in the Twenty-First Century,” at the Seminar on Environmental Law and Governance, University of Nanjing Center for Environmental Management and Policy, in Nanjing, China (March 11, 2005), and “The Influence of NGOs on the Development of U.S. Environmental Law,” at the Shanghai Jiao Tong University School of Law in Shanghai, China (March 7, 2005).

Thomas Pérez presented “Connecting Scholarship with Community in Civil Rights,” at the University of Maryland College Park Consortium on Race, Gender, and Ethnicity conference on “Tools for Social Justice: UM at the Intersection of Scholarship and Community,” held in College Park, MD (September 22, 2004); “The Civil Rights Dimension of Racial and Ethnic Disparities in Health Status,” at the National Conference on “Quality Health Care for Diverse Populations” in Washington, DC (September 30, 2004); and “Strategies for Increasing Racial and Ethnic Diversity in the Health Professions in the Post-Michigan Universe,” at a conference sponsored by the Association of American Medical Colleges in Los Angeles, CA (January 13, 2005). Pérez also presented “The Civil Rights Dimension of Racial and Ethnic Disparities in Health Status,” a Plenary Address to the Annual Conference of Families USA, held in Washington, DC (January 28, 2005).

Michael Pinard published “Broadening the Holistic Mindset: Incorporating Collateral Consequences and Reentry into Criminal Defense Lawyering,” 31 Fordham Urban Law Journal 1067 (2004). He presented “Clinical Teaching” at the National People of Color Conference held at George Washington University in Washington, DC (October 8, 2004); “An Integrated Perspective of the Collateral Consequences of Criminal Convictions and the Reentry of Ex-Offenders,” as part of a Faculty Colloquium held at Seton Hall University

School of Law, Newark, NJ (November 12, 2004); and he was a facilitator at “Defining Community Defense and Holistic Advocacy,” held as part of the Community-Oriented Defender Network Meeting, Brennan Center for Justice, New York, NY (March 22, 2005).

Garrett Power published “Meade v. Dentstone: The NAACP’s Test Case to ‘...Sue Jim Crow Out of Maryland with the Fourteenth Amendment,’” 63 Maryland Law Review 773 (2004) and “Calvert versus Carroll: The Quit-Rent Controversy between Maryland’s Founding Families,” Social Science Research Network (SSRN) (2005).

Peter Quint was a commentator on “Stories of Peoplehood,” by Rogers Smith at a Colloquium sponsored by the University of Maryland School of Law, Institute for Constitutional Studies and George Washington School of Law held in Baltimore, MD (October 13, 2004). He was a moderator at a panel on “South Africa: Constitution Building,” held at the Annual Meeting of American Society of Comparative Law, University of Michigan Law School in Ann Arbor, MI (October 23, 2004). He presented “Enemy Combatants and the Rule of Law: Three Recent Cases,” at the School of International Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, India (December 11, 2004), and “‘The Most Extraordinarily Powerful Court of Law the World Has Ever Known’—Judicial Review in Germany and the United States,” at the Indian Law Institute, New Delhi, India (December 16, 2004) as well as at the Constitutional Law Schmooze held at the University of Maryland School of Law, Baltimore, MD (March 5, 2005).

Publications, Presentations, and Honors

Andrew Reese published "Evaluating Maryland's Response to Drug Exposed Babies: SB 512 Children in Need of Assistance—Drug Addicted Babies," 10 Psychology, Public Policy & Law 383 (2004).

William Reynolds presented "Paternity Disestablishment" and "Ethical Issues in Child Support," Eastern Regional Child Support Association (2004); "Ethics for Child Support Attorneys," National Child Support Enforcement Association (NCSEA) (2004); and "Ethics," a National Tele-Talk for NCSEA (December 4, 2004). He received the President's Award for Public Service, NCSEA, and was elected Life Member, American Law Institute (2005). He published The Full Faith and Credit Clause (with William Richman [75]) (Praeger Press 2005).

Karen Rothenberg presented "Panic or Reason: What Should Drive United States Policy on Bioterrorism?" as part of "Terrorism and Trauma: a Transatlantic Perspective" conference held at the University of Maryland, Baltimore, MD (September 20, 2004), and "Genes on Trial: The Implications of Behavioral Genetics Research on the Individual, Family, Community, & Society" at "The Impact of Behavioral Genetics on Criminal Law, Law & Contemporary Problems" conference, Duke University School of Law, Durham, NC (April 9, 2005).

Steven Schwinn will publish the article "Toward a More Expansive Welfare Devolution Debate," Lewis & Clark Law Review (forthcoming 2005), and published the book Basic Legal Research Workbook (with Amy E. Sloan) (Aspen 2004), and the essay, "Teaching Students to Make the Law," The Second Draft, Vol. 19, No. 1 (December 2004). He delivered the presentations, "Bridging the Unlikely Gap Between Clinic and Legal Writing," at the AALS Conference on Clinical Legal Education, (May 2004) and "Theory and Practice of Live-Client Problems in the Legal Writing Classroom," Legal Writing Institute Biannual Conference, (July 2004).

Jana Singer has two articles forthcoming, "Marriage, Biology and Paternity: The Case for Revitalizing the Marital Presumption," Maryland Law Review (forthcoming 2005) and "Juristocracy in the Trenches: Problem-Solving Courts and Therapeutic Jurisprudence," Maryland Law Review (forthcoming 2005) (with Richard Boldt). She spoke at the "Colloquium on Family Law Teaching and Curricular Reform," Hofstra University School of Law, Long Island, NY (November 6, 2004) and presented "Juristocracy in the Trenches: Problem-Solving Courts and Therapeutic Jurisprudence," at the Constitutional Law Schmooze, held at the University of Maryland School of Law, Baltimore, MD (March 11, 2005). She was appointed to the Law Faculty Advisory Committee for the Association of Family and Conciliation Courts - Family Law Education Reform Project (2004-05).

William Sleeman published "The September 11 Digital Archive," (Internet Site Review) 22 Government Information Quarterly 124 (2005).

Frederic Smalkin presented "The Interstate Commerce Clause" and "The American Legal System from the Perspective of Emerging Nations," at the University of Redlands, Redlands, CA (October 21, 2004).

Rena Steinzor was appointed the Jacob A. France Research Professor of Law. She published The New Progressive Agenda for Public Health and the Environment, with co-editor Christopher Schroeder (Carolina Academic Press, 2005). She also published "A Perfect Storm: Mercury and the Bush Administration," 34 Environmental Law Reporter 10297 (2004) (with Lisa Heinzerling) and "A Perfect Storm: Mercury and the Bush Administration, Part 2" 34 Environmental Law Reporter 10485 (2004) (with Lisa Heinzerling). She presented "International Development Law Organization & International Senior Lawyers' Project," at the Training Seminar for Senior Government Officials, Performance-Based Regulation, in Rome, Italy (September 23, 2004); "Scientific Integrity in Regulation," at the Annual Conference of the American Public Health Association held in Washington, DC (November 7, 2004); and "The Salt Institute and the Data Quality Act: Shaking Up Judicial Review of Agency Rulemaking," held at the Environmental Law Institute, Washington, DC (March 30, 2005).

Robert Suggs will publish "Poisoning the Well: Law & Economics and Racial Inequality," Hastings Law Journal (forthcoming 2005), and presented on this topic at the 8th Annual Conference of the Association for the Study of Law, Culture, and the Humanities, Austin, TX (March 11, 2005). He also presented "The Invisible Man in Law and Economics," at Wake Forest University School of Law, Winston-Salem, NC (March 16, 2005) and at the Midwest People of Color Legal Scholarship Conference at Notre Dame Law School (April 8, 2005).

Lawrence Sung published Patent Infringement Remedies (BNA Books/2004) and the Patent Law Handbook (Thomson/West 2004-2005). He also published "Fisher to Resolve Basic Utility Issues: Federal Circuit May Rule that Genomic Fragments Cannot be Patented" in the National Law Journal, December 6, 2004, and "Future Public Policy and Ethical Issues Facing the Agricultural and Microbial Genomics Sectors of the Biotechnology Industry" (with Diane Hoffmann), 24 Biotechnology Law Report 10-28 (2005). He presented "Challenges of Patenting and Licensing Genomic and Proteomic Inventions," Fourth Meeting of the Committee on Intellectual Property Rights in Genomic and Protein-Related Inventions, at The National Academies of Science, Technology, and Law Program in Princeton, NJ (October 2, 2004), and "Emerging Issues and Data on Environmental Contaminants," at the Eighth Meeting of the Committee, the National Academies Board on Environmental Studies and Toxicology, held in Washington, DC (January 4-5, 2005). He also served as Chairperson of National Institutes of Health Research Grant Application Study Section—Ethical, Legal, and Social Implications of Human Genetics and Genomic Research, Rockville, MD (March 24-25, 2005).

David Super will publish "Rethinking Fiscal Federalism," 118 Harvard Law Review (forthcoming 2005) and "Are Rights Efficient? Challenging the Managerial Critique of Individual Rights," 93 California Law Review (forthcoming 2005). He published "The Quiet 'Welfare' Revolution: Resurrecting the Food Stamp Program in the Wake of the 1996 Welfare Law," 79 New York University Law Review 1271 (2004); "The New Moralizers: Transforming the Conservative Legal Agenda," 104 Columbia Law Review 2032 (2004);

"Offering an Invisible Hand: The Rise of the Personal Choice Model for Rationing Public Benefits," 113 Yale Law Journal 815 (2004); and "The Political Economy of Entitlement," 104 Columbia Law Review 633 (2004). He presented "Privatization and the Food Stamp Program," at the South East Public Benefits Advocates' Semi-Annual Conference held in New Orleans, LA (October 23-24, 2004), and "Current Issues in the Food Stamp Program," at the South East Public Benefits Advocates' Semi-Annual Conference and Midwest Public Benefits Advocates' Annual Conference held in Chicago, IL (November 19-20).

Michael Van Alstine will publish "The Death of Good Faith in Treaty Jurisprudence and a Call for Resurrection," in the 93 Georgetown Law Journal (forthcoming 2005) and "Federal Common Law in an Age of Treaties," 89 Cornell Law Review 892 (2004).

Ellen Weber will publish "Bridging the Barriers: Public Health Strategies for Expanding Drug Treatment in Communities," 57 Rutgers Law Review (forthcoming 2005); and published "Civil Legal Need of Individuals in Drug Treatment," (with co-authors), 28 Journal of Substance Abuse Treatment 205-11 (2005); and "Teaching to Encourage More to Do," 4 Maryland Journal of Race, Religion, Gender and Class 279 (2004). She was recognized with the Baltimore City Substance Abuse Directorate Leadership Award (2004). She presented "The Americans with Disabilities Act: Discrimination in Public Services," Section 1983 Civil Rights Litigation Conference, Chicago-Kent College of Law (April 2005).

Marley Weiss presented "Change at Work: New Problems for Labor Law" and "Transnational Capital Mobility and Domestic Collective Labor Relations: U.S., German, and Japanese Comparisons," both at the Law and Society Association 2004 Annual Meeting held in Chicago, IL (May 27-28, 2004).

Robin Wilson published "Using Tort Law to Secure Patient Dignity," (co-author) Trial Magazine 42 (October, 2004). She presented "Remove the Threat, Not the Child: A Test Case for Professor Garrison's Public Health Approach," Conference on The State Construction of Families "Foster Care, Termination of Parental Rights and Adoption," sponsored by The Center for Children, Families and the Law, University of Virginia School of Law in Charlottesville, VA (October 29, 2004); "Undeserved Trust: Reflections on the American Law Institute's Treatment of De Facto 'Parents,'" Conference of Critical Reflections on the American Law Institute's Principles of the Law of Family Dissolution (October 14, 2004); and "Evaluating Marriage: Does Marriage Matter to the Nurturing of Children?" at the University of San Diego Institute for Law & Philosophy in San Diego, CA (January 14, 2005). Professor Wilson is editing a new volume forthcoming from Cambridge University Press entitled Reconceiving the Family: Reflections on the American Law Institute's Principles of the Law of Family Dissolution (Cambridge University Press, 2006) and has recently completed a co-edited volume forthcoming from Sage Press entitled Handbook of Children, Culture & Violence (with Nancy Dowd and Dorothy G. Singer) (Sage Press, 2006).

Roger Wolf was presented the "Maryland Leadership in Law Award," The Daily Record, The Scottish Rite (November 12, 2004).

Gordon Young was appointed the Marbury Research Professor of Law.

Again this year, the law school has attracted a fine slate of professors, increasing its range of expertise in several areas, from intellectual property and environmental law to international criminal justice.

Kelly A. Casey

Beginning this fall, Kelly A. Casey joins the law school's growing Intellectual Property Program as an assistant professor of law. She will teach International Intellectual Property and Patent Law. Casey comes to Maryland from the University of Georgia School of Law, where she held a visiting faculty position.

Casey received a BS with highest honors from Georgia Tech and a JD, summa cum laude, from the University of Georgia School of Law, where she graduated first in her class. While in law school she served on the Georgia Law Review and was inducted into the Order of the Coif. After graduation, Casey clerked for Judge J.L. Edmondson of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Eleventh Circuit and Judge William C. Bryson of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

Casey honed her expertise in intellectual property law at the Atlanta office of Finnegan, Henderson, Farabow, Garrett & Dunner, a 300-lawyer firm that specializes in IP. While at the firm, she focused primarily on appellate litigation of intellectual property matters before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

In talking about her move to the School of Law, she says, "I was attracted to Maryland Law by its strong tradition of striking the important balance between teaching—both classroom and clinical—and scholarly pursuits. The law faculty is composed of highly talented and dedicated scholars who have the privilege of working with bright, engaged students who are our future attorneys, judges, public interest advocates, government and business leaders, and scholars." Casey adds that she was particularly impressed by Maryland's Intellectual Property Law Program, which thoughtfully and strategically combines both theory and practical skills to introduce students to this exciting area of law. Casey's research interests relate to intellectual property law, with an emphasis on patent law.

Visiting Professors

Kerry Rodgers

Kerry Rodgers joins the University of Maryland School of Law faculty as a visiting associate professor of law to teach the Environmental Law Clinic during the 2005-2006 academic year. Rodgers earned a JD from New York University School of Law, where she served as senior articles editor of the New York University Environmental Law Journal. Prior to attending law school, she earned an MES in Environmental Studies from the Yale University School of Forestry & Environmental Studies and an AB in Biology from Brown University.

Rodgers brings extensive experience practicing environmental law to the law school. Most recently, she served in the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's Office of General Counsel in Washington, D.C. Her practice as the acting assistant general counsel for Clean Air Act Title V Permits and attorney-advisor involved counseling and litigation in the areas of Clean Air Act permits and the regulation of air toxins. Rodgers previously was an associate at the law firm of Dewey Ballantine LLP in New York, where she practiced environmental law for five years. She was selected to receive a 1995-1996 Morris K. Udall Congressional Fellowship in the Office of Technology Assessment of the U.S. Congress.

While the main reason Rodgers decided to come to UM Law was its "exciting Environmental Law Program," she says, "I also am impressed by the law school's commitment to public service, as reflected by its Clinical Law Program and the interdisciplinary approach of the curriculum. Through the Environmental Law Clinic, I hope to share my experience practicing environmental law with students who are enthusiastic about the field."

Chandra Lekha Sriram

Chandra Lekha Sriram joins the School of Law during the fall 2005 semester as a visiting associate professor of law. She will teach International Human Rights and International Law. Since September 2003, Dr. Sriram has been a lecturer in the School of International Relations at the University of St. Andrews in Scotland.

She is author of various books and journal articles on international relations, international law, human rights and conflict prevention and post-conflict peace-building. Two of her most recent books/monographs include, Globalizing Justice For Mass Atrocities: A Revolution In Accountability (Routledge, forthcoming 2005), and Confronting Past Human Rights Violations: Justice vs. Peace in Times of Transition (Frank Cass, 2004).

Her forthcoming research project examines the use of inclusion of non-state armed groups in governance and security structures as a tool of peace negotiations and peace-building. The study will examine efforts to negotiate with non-state armed groups in Sri Lanka, Sudan, and Colombia.

Dr. Sriram received a PhD from the Department of Politics at Princeton University and a JD from Boalt Hall School of Law at the University of California-Berkeley with an emphasis in international law.

A Legacy of Teaching, Scholarship, and Service

EDWARD TOMLINSON

With a combined sixty-nine years of service, Professors Edward Tomlinson and Abraham Dash represent a remarkable legacy. Their promotion to emeritus status upon their respective retirements this year is a reflection of the remarkable contributions they have made to the life of the School of Law, to the academy, and to the bench and the bar.

Many students first encounter Professor Tomlinson as a careful critic of their legal writing assignments. As a tireless teacher of legal writing and analysis, Professor Tomlinson parsed the sentences of a generation of lawyers, teaching them not just to construct a sentence but to reason more clearly. Other students met him in contracts, criminal procedure, or in an advanced seminar in comparative law. Professor Tomlinson is the author of a score of articles, and he translated the French Penal Code of 1994 with a scholarly introduction. His articles have been cited in the work of the American Law Institute for their informative comparative analysis.

Professor Tomlinson's service to the school and to the larger community is extraordinary. He shaped the development of the school's educational program for years as chairman of the Curriculum Committee. His public service in Maryland includes the Governor's Death Penalty Advisory Committee. On the national level, he has been a director of the American Society of Comparative Law, and internationally, he is the American representative of the Association Henri Capitant des Amis de la Culture Juridique Française. Professor Tomlinson received his BA from Princeton in 1961, his MA from the University of Washington in 1962 and his LLB in 1965 from Harvard University. He joined the University of Maryland School of Law faculty in 1965, and was promoted to professor of law in 1971.

Students are most likely to meet Professor Dash in a large upper-level lecture course on legal profession, criminal procedure, or administrative law. He has received awards for his teaching, and has served as a positive role model for countless graduates of the law school now serving as lawyers and judges. Professor Dash has provided extraordinary service to the school as a member of the Administrative Committee, advisor to the Moot Court Board, and founder of the school's highly successful Trial Advocacy Team. Professor Dash has published several books and articles, principally for practicing lawyers and judges, and he has continued to update many of those books (the judges' bench books specifically) over the years.

ABRAHAM DASH

Professor Dash's public service has also been extraordinary. He helped start the Law Related Education Program of the Maryland State Bar Association, which provides education to public school teachers on the legal system. Professor Dash is a member of several bars including, the U.S. Supreme Court, the U.S. Court of Appeals, Washington, D.C., the District of Columbia, and the Court of Military Appeals. Over the years, he has served as a consultant to several American Bar Association and Maryland Bar committees on criminal procedure and administrative law and to a national task force on organized crime.

Both professor Tomlinson and professor Dash will be the subject of tributes in upcoming issues of the Maryland Law Review.